Dear Enquirer,

Thank you for enquiring about care in a Jah-Jireh Home.

In order to apply to one of our Homes, we kindly ask that our application pack is completed and returned to us at the above address. The pack is available online or by post (on request) and contains the following:

- Application Form which should be completed and signed.
- Consent Form which needs to be completed and signed by the applicant.
- Pre-Admission Health Assessment Form which is to be filled in and signed by someone who has knowledge of the applicant's physical and mental health. This could be a health professional, a care giver, a friend, or family member.
- In addition, if a recent social worker's assessment is available, please send this to us. We would be happy to liaise directly with any social workers involved.

Other documents which would help us to assess the care needs of the applicant would be copies of any up-to-date medical assessments or reports, e.g., from the Memory Clinic, a consultant or specialist.

On the basis of the above information, the manager of the Home in question will decide whether a place can be considered at Jah-Jireh. They may need to interview the applicant to help them to make their decision.

Jah-Jireh Care Home Fees

From 1st May 2022 our weekly fees will be as follows:

Blackpool Jah-Jireh Residential Care	£736.00
Leyland Jah-Jireh Residential Care	£720.00
Merthyr Jah-Jireh Residential Care	£746.00
Wigan Jah-Jireh Residential Care	£736.00
Wigan Jah-Jireh Nursing Care	£780.00 plus FNC (FNC paid by NHS)

The government threshold for funding an individual for residential care is currently £23,250 per person (£50,000 in Wales). If a person has assets above this threshold, then they would be responsible for their own fees.

An applicant who owns a property but has savings and investments (excluding property) below £23,250 per person (£50,000 in Wales) may wish to apply for deferred payments from their local authority to pay for care whilst their property is being sold.

For either council funding or deferred payments, it would be necessary to contact the Adult Social Care Department of the applicant's local council. A social worker will usually be assigned to assess whether the applicant would be eligible for funding. If successful, then a financial assessment would be carried out by the council and the applicant would be informed of any contribution that they would be expected to make towards their funding (called client contribution). The council would make their own contribution toward the cost of care according to their fee structure and would notify Jah-Jireh of their decision.

If anyone becomes a resident of Jah-Jireh and they are a private payer, they may apply for local authority funding once savings/assets fall below the government threshold of £23,250 (£50,000 in Wales). This would normally be done though a social worker. If the local authority declines the request for funding, then the resident would be responsible for paying their own fees until savings/assets reach a threshold of £5000.
